Business Owners. The time is right to...consider emigrating!

Recently I've sold businesses for vendors who have chosen to emigrate; more vendors have a quality of life reason for sale. Also popular is the partial acquisition for the vendor who wants to join a bigger organisation and have the backing and opportunities that affords. Increasing market activity and revenues might lead you to consider your options; if so, I represent genuine purchasers in varied scenarios - global companies, private companies, regional firms - who are genuinely interested in planned growth for their company but who also understand the hurdles and emotive aspects that a vendor might face. Buyers are generally more interested in profitable, well-run companies with a decent management team but are also willing to consider, if reflected in the price expectation, a business that requires some shaping to reach its fullest potential.

Most business sectors have a demand currently and I have been involved in broking circa 20 deals in the following sectors this year; high st/generalist, driving and industrial, technical, professional and public sector, IT & niche specialists e.g.leisure...A few years' of trading history is preferable but if you want an informal conversation firstly do feel free to contact me Julie O'Neill on 01992 643884, mobile 07713 643761 or e-mail julie@mccall.co.uk. Here's the best bit; this service does not cost - McCall M&A charges the purchaser the fee.
