Best Recruitment-to-Recruitment Firm

Established in 1992 and focusing on the London marketplace, McCall has since expanded internationally to reflect the global nature of recruitment, with offices in locations such as the Far East, the US and Australia.

McCall specialises in placing candidates from graduate trainees through to consultant, management and director-level appointments. The feedback from recruitment clients overwhelmingly said that McCall stands out largely due to the time and effort their consultants take to understand the agencies' business, their culture, their varying requirements and the calibre of candidates that are sourced. In some cases McCall consultants have managed to see beyond the confines of the brief and introduced interesting options that would not normally have been considered, and these individuals have quickly progressed to become assets to the client's business.

Client's testimony: "McCall takes notice of our culture; we are often looking for candidates that are a bit more mature and rounded, and the people that they send are always in the right space."

Client's testimony: "They are thoroughly professional, proactive, very knowledgeable, and throughout any process or liaison with them they keep you very well informed. But most impressive is their ability to keep abreast of the developments in the business."
